From the President

On December 31, 1999, at the stroke of midnight, George and I pulled the well-worn cord in Main's Tower, ringing in the new millennium on behalf of the entire Agnes Scott College community, past, present and future. We were surrounded by graffiti from the near and distant past, the names of students who had slipped up to the Main attic to leave their signatures for all time. Echoes of bells ringing at Friday noon signaling a job offer or graduate school acceptance rang in our ears, as did memories of high state and ceremonial occasions.

Main, Agnes Scott Hall, was dedicated in 1891, and this magnificent building has housed presidents, deans, and students for more than a century. No student who attended Agnes Scott during this transitional centennial year—1999-2000—will forget that the campus seemed to be under construction much of the year. We too are building for a long and prosperous future. We hope that our new and renovated buildings will also stand the test of time for the new century that has now begun. And, that when you return next year or in the years to come, you will marvel at the new, while continuing to treasure the traditions, both physical and cultural, that make Agnes Scott our beloved alma mater.

Mary Brown Bullock '66
President

Dear Blues Brothers/Sisters,

In a constant effort to maintain perspective, I keep the regulations from the 1892 Agnes Scott Institute Catalog always close at hand. I urge you to do the same. They include the following:

No student will be excused from breakfast except in case of illness.

Students will not be allowed to go to Atlanta oftener than once a quarter for shopping purposes.

Visitors will not be received during school or study hours, nor the visits of young men at a time.

No student is allowed to appear in a wrapper outside her own chamber.

While these texts could serve as an invitation to lament the precipitous decline of civilization and good manners, they remind me that many of today's absolutes will be tomorrow's hoots. Don't even try to imagine the changes in lifestyles that will take place during your lives. But if your education at Agnes Scott has succeeded, you are prepared for the continuing task of sorting through your intellectual and spiritual closets and letting go of the faddish and merely conventional while recognizing and maintaining those wise and true beliefs that are forever the real thing. You may hear your liberal arts education criticized for its lack of usefulness. It is in fact the most useful of educations in that it prepares you for a lifelong meditation on the values, actions and relationships that bring true happiness. May you have the wisdom to recognize that happiness and the courage to foster it day in and day out.

I'm sure that I speak for all of our faculty and staff in expressing the hope that you have felt and will always feel part of an Agnes Scott family bound together by ties of love, service and laughter.

The departure of the class of 2000 is particularly poignant for me since among you are the last students I've taught. To those women I say, may your Agnes Scott value added grow exponentially and, when you enter the labor market, may you encounter equilibrium at a high wage and low number of hours worked. And, by the way, was I the only one to notice the dramatic increase in enrollments in business and economics as soon as I left the department?

Always the pretend dean,

Ed Sheehy

Dear All:

What a fast paced year this has been! If the rest of the Millennium is this exciting, I may not make all of it. (That was a Dean Hudson joke). Luckily, Health Services and Personal Counseling ensure we have the stamina for everything that is going on.

With a newly renovated and expanded Evans Hall, we welcomed the largest new class in the history of Agnes Scott, the Class of 2003. The Lost Girls and Peter Pan may well greet another large band next year. The Office of Admission tells me that the attractiveness of Agnes Scott and the appeal of women's colleges in general have brought the highest number of applicants ever!

Speaking of large, have you ever seen a crane so big? For most of the year Big White Bird has hovered over the construction site of the new Alston Campus Center. Next year there will be 58,000 square feet of space, including a grille, student activities hub, coffee bar, cybercafé, fireplace lounge, day student lounge and business center, student organization offices and meeting rooms, and offices for Career Planning, Religious Life, Residence Life and the Assistant Dean of Students. Wow!

We'll need every inch of that new space for all the programming put on by the office of the Assistant Dean, Social Council, Showtime and our new Realité Council. We've had an overwhelming response to programming this year and our new building will set the stage for more, great band parties.

Speaking of building—nine students and two staff participated in Alternative Spring Break by working with Habitat for Humanity in New Mexico. Other volunteers served our community by making valentines for DeKalb Health Care Community and donor kits for Decatur Cooperative Ministries.

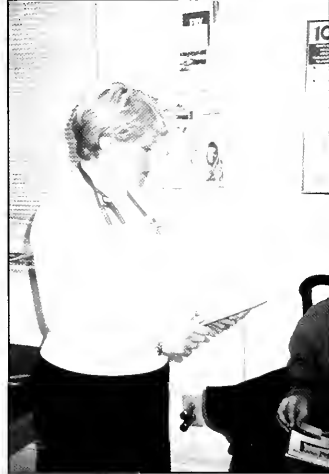

Agnes Scott student-athletes were active on the political scene and assisted alumna and state representative, Kathy Ashe '68, in the passage of the Gender Equity in Sports Bill in Georgia. That success was matched on the playing fields/courts with the ASC soccer team enjoying its most successful year (13 wins), as did the basketball team. ASC tennis has already beaten three regionally ranked NCAA teams, so their season is bright. Senior Carla Maley qualified for the NCAA Regionals in cross-country.

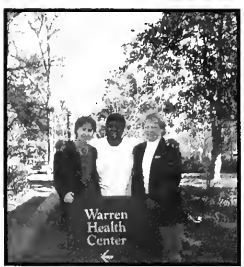

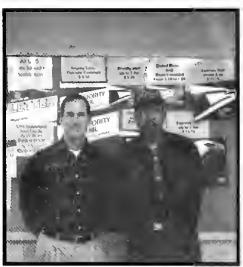

Y2k commencement will send the Blues Brothers off with Marsha Norman '69, acclaimed playwright and alum, scheduled as their speaker. We will miss them but can't wait to hear all their adventures at grad school, in service, from around the world or in the corporate world. Career Planning has worked hard to bring top employers like IBM, Coca-Cola and SunTrust on campus and to create challenging internships for ASC students. Wherever the Class of 2000 is bound, we know they will succeed.

Have a great summer.

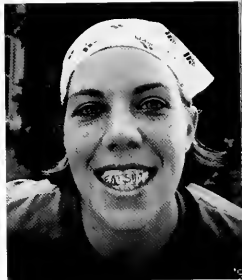

Week is dedicated to all those hardworking staff and administration members "behind the scenes." Our appreciation is immeasurable.

To the cafeteria workers, and the groundskeepers, and the facilities staff, and the health center, to the bookstore, and the post office, and public safety, and admissions and international education, and publications, and all the other staff and administrative personnel on campus: the entire campus community would like to say "Thank you." Thank you for all your hard work and dedication. You are not forgotten.

The Diverse Faces of ASC

“Coined Admissions Office phrases provide a prospective student with a non-descriptive view of Agnes Scott.

[E]ven the most well prepared brochure can never completely define life at Agnes Scott” (Silhouette, 1978).

Some things never change. As ‘coined phrases’ like ‘transformations’ and ‘diversity’ are thrown around this campus, it merely takes a brief look at an old yearbook or a short chat with one of those white-haired alumna, that has the job you hope you will have one day, to know that there is something consistent about this campus. No matter how things change and how many ‘diverse faces’ we present to the world, there is a steady current here. It has always and will always exist as long as there are Scotties.

The Admissions Office may speak of independence and intelligence, but it is only with an in-depth look at each of us, paying special note to the individuality each person on this community adds, that brings true meaning to the reality and to the future memories. These next few pages will attempt to take you on a journey and give you an inside peek that goes beyond superficiality. No holds barred, from studying to Sophomore Family Weekend, this book is and will be the best insight into your world, which (ask any BluesBrother) will be over all too soon.

Enjoy!!

Orientation

The summer before your first year at school can be hectic. Any upper-class-woman can tell you that. What no one, however, tells you is that getting your feet wet at Agnes Scott can be just as crazy and hardcore.

Almost four years ago, when the Class of 2000 came in for Orientation, it lasted longer than a weekend but shorter than a week. First-years are now faced with a whirlwind, three-day cram session that can leave a person a little overwhelmed for their first day of classes.

On the bright side, it is an excellent chance to meet the campus, your roommate, lifelong friends, and the local Wal-Mart while saying good-bye to family. Overall, it is definitely not an experience to be missed!

The Winship Ghost

Back in the 1960s, they opened up Winship to seniors as study rooms because enrollment was so low. Each Scottie was assigned a specific room of which the door was then removed. One Senior was studying in her room one night when a girl walked in and said hello. They began talking, and the Senior noticed that the girl's hair and clothes seemed a little old-fashioned. However, she did not think much of it. They got to know each other fairly well over the next few weeks. One day, the Senior was working on a project for the yearbook and was flipping through old yearbooks when she suddenly found a picture of her new friend under an obituary heading.

Study Abroad

Brigitte Hogan-2000

Last year, Scotties lived and learned in such diverse places as Spain, Austria, England, Costa Rica, and China. Once there, they not only got to travel the world, but they became more self-reliant and self-confident.

While having the time of your life, some of our seasoned study abroad Scotties have the following advice for future travelers. First, do not reject or over value your own culture at the expense of appreciating your new one. Second, make friends, both American and foreign.

Remember to get to know your new country not only geographically but culturally as well before you go. Most important of all, have fun!

Junior Production is a night of intensity: from expectancy, to preparation, to performance jitters. It is also a bonding experience like none other at Agnes Scott. Sophomore Family Weekend integrates Sophomores into a new level of Scottiness, but Junior Production puts you dead in the center of your class. Sophomore Family Weekend

This celebration holds such a special role for many reasons. It is clear that this is a momentous occasion for not just the students but the parents as well (above and beyond the fact that they probably coughed up the dough for the actual ring). For Lauren Sealey, it was a chance for her to introduce her parents to her friends, the campus, and for them to spend some quality time together. As Freshwomen, a Scottie gets to know the school as her home and works for acceptance by her class, but Sophomore Family Weekend is when not only your class but the school itself accepts you, and finally you have somewhere to belong. In this sense, it can almost be contrasted with graduation, whereas instead of leaving, you are coming into your own.

Anxious sophomores wait for the big ceremony where they will finally get their ring and be true Scotties.

Black History Month

"The eternal bond between the living and the ancestors is at the core of the fabric of African societies. This tradition, carried into the [African] diaspora, is still vibrant today... We acknowledge Denmark Vesey, Harriet Tubman, Sojourner Truth, Frederick Douglass, and all those who struggled for freedom... We acknowledge Phyllis Wheatley, Zora Neale Hurston, Langston Hughes, Alvin Ailey, and all those who helped bring out the aesthetics and potency of a much maligned culture... We acknowledge Ida B. Wells, Thurgood Marshall, Martin Luther King Jr., Kwame Ture, Ruby Davis Smith Robinson, and those who fought for civil rights... And finally, we acknowledge our own great grand parents, grandparents, and other relatives not so known in our history, but whose impact on our lives we celebrate each day. We welcome their presence saying, Ashe/[Amen]."

Dr. Violet Johnson, History and Africana Studies

What is the purpose of Black History Month?

To become culturally aware, especially for folks who are not black, so they can learn about a culture other than their own.

Noreen Williams-2003

RTC Barbara Washington preaches the gospel as she leads Joyful Noise in an excerpt from a prominent African-American play.

The African and West Indian Student Association does a traditional South African Beer Dance for the Black History Month Theatre.

Octavia Gatson, Kieva Morrison, and an Ethiopian International student discuss the situation of women of African descent throughout the world, highlighting current conditions in the United States, Jamaica, and Ethiopia.

Tanya Garnet sings the Black National Anthem.

Nawaal Duranni addresses the subject of post colonialism as part of a student/professor panel led discussion for Black History Month.

Current Scottie Crystal Taylor and Alumnae Jamila Heard, Courtney Griffin, and Ayoka Shakir come together at the Black History Month Theatre reception.

Through The Years...

The women of the class of 2000 have grown from teary goodbyes to their parents at first-year orientation to standing on their own two feet as leaders on the ASC campus. Events such as Orientation Weekend, Sophomore Family Weekend, Junior production, Black Cat events, Capping, and Senior Investiture have helped to form friendships within the class of 2000 that will last a lifetime. These memories are the ones we will hold dear as we reflect back on our times at Agnes Scott College. The following quotes represent the most memorable times in the lives of seniors at ASC.

"Of all the Black Cats at ASC, this one was the most fun, maybe it was because we were Seniors, maybe because I had a great date, or maybe because all my friends were there -- probably all three, but I had a BLAST!" - Jessie Heath

"...being refused food at the old snack bar because I had bare feet." - Melon Butler

"Watching the first run through of Junior Production and realizing that we had brilliant ideas and a possible perfect score show. That is, if we could polish the production before the fire alarm rang due to large amounts of cigarette smoke backstage, and everyone's super size cup of "coke" was empty." - Jackie Pardue

"My most memorable moment at ASC was on the marine biology trip. We went swimming with the dolphins at the marine station in Honduras, and we also got to do a training session with them, making them do flips and other tricks."
- Elizabeth Meade

"It's a rare occasion to have men on campus, but to have four half-naked men at once in Evans Dining Hall for Senior party

> A NIGHT TO REMEMBER <

Black Cat Formal '98 is off to a good start as the class of 2000 comes into the homestretch of their time at ASC.

day is a memory that I (and Lucia Sizemore) will never forget!"
- Jennifer Booker

"My most memorable moment at ASC was during Loose Knit, my very first theatre production, when a painting I hung between scenes fell during the performance." - Yalonda Rice

"I'll never forget the feeling I had the first time I ever stepped foot on this campus, I just knew that this was where I belonged."
- Julie Bricker

Seniors

“Senior Investiture was both exciting and scary because it was the first time I realized that this will be my last year at ASC. I’m just glad I got to spend this time with good friends.

-Susie Kahl

“KISS” YOUR CAPPER

Capping '99 brings out the worst in even the finest members of the senior class, Julie Bricker and Cara Carroll.

SENIOR INVESTITURE

Katherine West and Susie Kahl show their excitement as they exit Games, in “high fashion”, wearing their caps and gowns.

Agnes Scott students embody the Renaissance woman of the new millennium!

Agnes Scott College prides itself on offering the “world for women,” each woman views that world in a different light.

To some it offers stability, nurturing, and cultivation, for others it offers great internships and a high acceptance rate to prestigious graduate institutions. The common elements present in every Agnes Scott Woman’s view of the world is independence, equality, and academics. The ASC community sparkles with academia, pride, enthusiasm, leadership, and character.

Each new year brings to it something new and this year was no different. With the new millennium approaching, Agnes Scott College is experiencing an array of new changes.

Through the madness of the renovations one thing has remained constant; the high quality of the Agnes Scott student. The First years represent one of the largest and most diverse classes to ever grace this beautiful campus. They bring with them experience, impressionable minds, and wide eyed expressions ready to absorb everything within their grasp.

The Sophomores bring their wisdom from their many First year experiences and the new found knowledge they

YOU KNOW YOU ARE A COLLEGE STUDENT IF...

- ... You have ever price shopped for Ramen noodles.
- ... You live in a house with three couches, none of which match.
- ... You consider macaroni and cheese a balanced meal.
- ... You have ever seen two consecutive sunrises without sleeping.
- ... Your underwear supply dictates the time between laundry loads.
- ... You cannot remember when you last washed your car.
- ... You ever dialed "9" before the number to your own house.
- ... You wear shoes to the shower.
- ... You are happy to get anything in your mail box, even if it is junk mail.
- ... Your trips to Target on Saturdays are the highlights of your week.

Challenging Our World

Tolerant, influential, and challenging only partly describe the faculty of Agnes Scott College. The professors tolerate late students, compete with train whistles and construction, and ignore the slurping and smacking noises of mid-class lunches. They hold their composure even through the most challenging time of the year, Black Cat. Professors must wade through signs and decorations to even reach their classrooms. Once inside, they are faced with an audience of Blues Brothers, Sun Goddesses, Queen of Hearts and Little Lost Girls. The professional stature of the professors allow them to maintain their composure through even the most trying of times. Their revenge comes in the form of papers and final exams. Although testing their students is necessary, professors are more concerned with their students' ability to comprehend and apply what they learn rather than their ability to memorize facts. The passion that each professor exemplifies for their discipline inspires the students to learn and to show interest in a variety of academic areas.

The outstanding professors here at Agnes Scott not only reach the minds of the students, but also their hearts. The ASC faculty prides itself on being approachable by its students. From helping to perfect a major paper to staying after class to explain the structure of a cell one more time, the ASC faculty is overwhelmingly generous and helpful. Students share a one on one relationship with their professors. This type of unique college setting is rare and greatly appreciated by the students here at ASC.

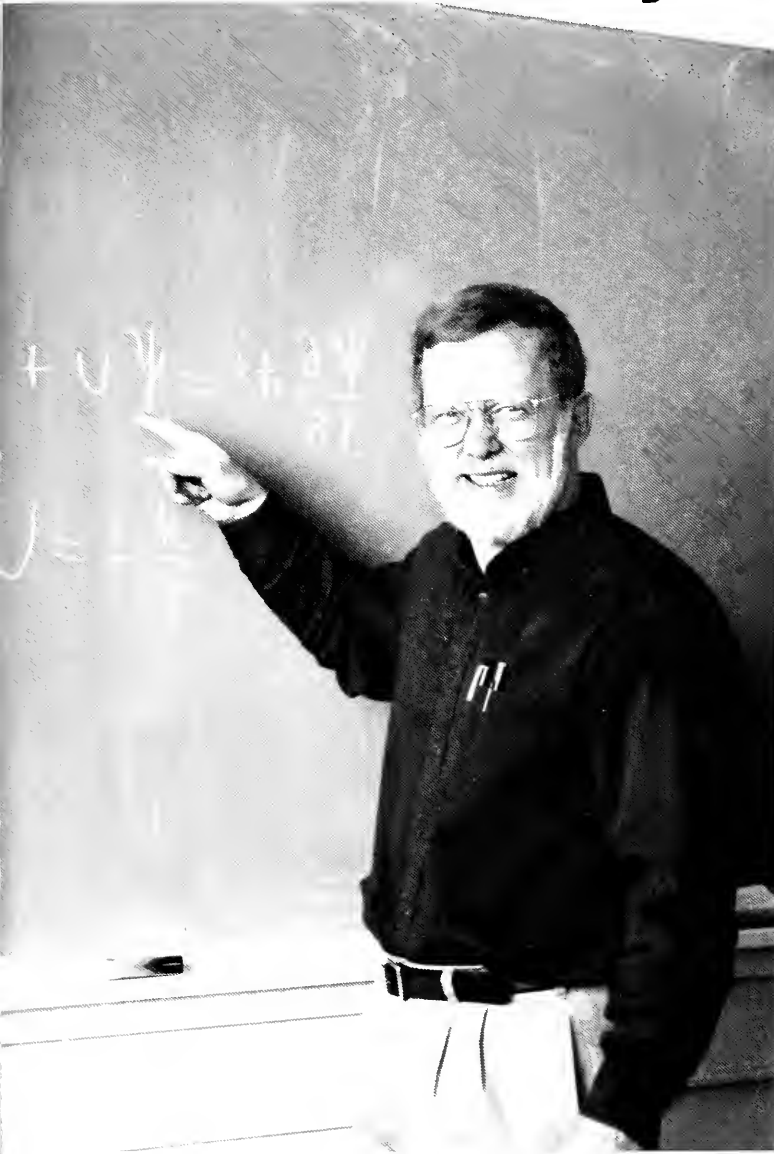

➤ Late Again? ◀

Amalea Hijar explains to Professor Xu that she will be a little late for her World Politics class tomorrow.

Bonds form between students and professors that extend outside of the classroom. It is not uncommon for a professor to open up their home to a Roman feast or an intensive study on the academic importance of the volley ball scene in Top Gun. The professors leave time to laugh and have fun outside of the classroom. Getting to know their students for the bright young women that they are is a welcomed challenge to the ASC faculty. With a mixture of camaraderie and professionalism the professors earn the respect of their students. Professors leave their students with a lifetime of knowledge and memories.

Athletics and Physical Education

Time to Shape Up!

Page Remillard
Athletic Director/Physical Education Chair

"This is an exciting time for ASC Athletics. Our department is working to establish one of the best athletic programs for women. My commitment to the ASC student-athlete is to develop a competitive program in an environment that complements opportunities currently available for female athletes at respected NCAA Division III co-ed institutions."

Here at ASC the students learn the importance of shaping our minds and our bodies. The Athletics and Physical Education Departments emphasize the importance of physical health, strength and performance. Being physically fit is crucial to young women's health in today's society. From swimming to fencing, ASC students participate in many forms of exercise.

The Physical Education Department capitalizes on educating their students to develop new skills and physical fitness. The opportunity to learn a new sport is open to all. From beginning tennis to horseback riding, students are offered an array of choices. The PE instructors patiently endeavor to bring out the athletes in their students.

The Athletics Department takes on the special job of molding their players into varsity worthy athletes. The process is difficult and is accompanied by hours of practicing and strategizing. Coaches work hard to create a team effort amongst the players and the athletics department as a whole. It is not uncommon to see Varsity Tennis players cheering on their fellow athletes at volleyball games and soccer games. The sports program is continually making improvements and setting new goals. The coaches are setting high standards for both their players and themselves which have obviously paid off in respect to successful seasons in all of the Athletics Department.

M. Saif Rahman
Visiting Professor of Economics

What do you think about the students of Agnes Scott?

“Motivated and respectful. I would be proud to have some of my students academically compete against the best students from the best institutions in the country.”

A Taste of the Real World

Feature: What is the Atlanta Semester?

The Atlanta Semester is a unique studies program in women, leadership, and social change offered at Agnes Scott. It is spearheaded by Isa Williams (pictured at right). She says, "The most exciting aspect is the energy that students, faculty and community members bring to the topic of women, leadership and social change. The program is the energy." The program consists of internships, seminars, speakers' forums, and independent research conducted by the students.

The Atlanta Semester Seminar is an interdisciplinary exploration of women's historic and contemporary contributions to social change. The course provides a theoretical framework for understanding women's relationship to the process of leadership and social change with special focus on multi-ethnic feminist theories.

The Atlanta Semester Speakers' Forum allows students to meet with community leaders and faculty for lectures and to discuss topics related to the Atlanta Semesters's yearly focus.

The Atlanta Semester Internship gives students experiential learning through supervised internships in a community organization. Some organizations that agreed to participate in the Atlanta Semester include Amnesty International, Atlanta Women's Fund, CARE, The Carter Center, Council on Battered Women, DeKalb Rape Crisis Center, The National Organization for Women, SisterLove, and many more.

The Atlanta Semester Research project consists of independent research drawing on the students' internship and seminar resulting in a final paper.

Art Bowling has some exciting news about the Astronomy Department. "First, we are in the process of upgrading and renovating the Bradley Observatory; the renovated observatory should open fall 2000, and will feature a new 70 seat planetarium with a Zeiss projector. It will also have a facility for using lasers to study the earth's atmosphere, particularly pollution over the Atlanta area. The large Beck Telescope, which has a 30-inch diameter mirror, will still be in place and the mirror will have a shiny new coating."

Thoughtful Responses to Critical Thinkers

Kristen Damato offers insights into a fellow student's paper. This is one of the many papers assigned by Oliveros during the course of teaching Creative Collaborations to this enthusiastic group of young women.

Pauline Oliveros, renowned for her work with deep listening, is artist in residence during the Spring semester.

She is teaching a class called "Creative Collaborations: Intermedia." This is an interdisciplinary course focused on late 20th Century creativity, improvisation, and interactive media. Students from different disciplines survey significant local and international collaborative works, current technologies, create a Website and engage with each other in collaborative projects designed for live performance and internet broadcast. For the Website, students are asked to locate, identify and interview Atlanta's professional women in creative music, visual arts, literature, dance and theatre. This website will be available for the entire community as a permanent site on Agnes Scott's server.

In 1994, Oliveros was the recipient of an artistic achievement award from the Foundation for Contemporary Performance Arts. She has received a Guggenheim Fellowship to study native American ritual music, and is the recipient of the 1999 SEAMUS Award (The Society for Electro-acoustic Music in the United States). She has performed at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, New Music America Festivals, and in countless concert halls worldwide. From Sonic Meditations to Deep Listening, Professor Oliveros' innovations have already established her place in music history.

Every Friday, students in Oliveros' Creative Collaborations class engage in "Deep Listening" exercises, created by Pauline Oliveros, to enhance creative work and engage with others by connecting with the universe

The animated Susiana Mulyadi reads her paper on "what is culture?" to Oliveros and the rest of her attentive class. Personal expressions are extremely important in this class.

One in a Million

Pauline Oliveros listens intently as one of her students shares her experiences in a paper. All the senses are stimulated in Oliveros' class whether it be through Deep Listening exercises or the critical thinking she stirs through assigning certain projects to be accomplished during the semester.

“Hearing is the physical act that happens through our primary sense organ when sound waves impinge upon the ear. Listening involves directing one's attention and interpreting what is heard.” - Pauline Oliveros

Professors: The Shocking Story of Their Lives Outside of the Classroom

Feature: Professors on the Weekends

Have you ever wondered what your professors do in their spare time? The faculty section of the yearbook sent out a survey to answer this question. We received answers from running and biking to flying airplanes and cooking. The most common answers that we came across were work and spending time with family. From our results it appears that professors really don't have much free time, even on the weekends. They spend their time preparing for classes in order to ensure that they give their students the best education possible.

>The Lucky Ones<

Sometimes professors get the chance to study abroad with their students. Here Professor Seymour accompanies Terry Otto, among other students, to El Escorial, Spain.

>The Not-So-Lucky<

Elizabeth Hackett, a new Women's Studies professor this year, is on her knees to get students to participate in class. What a hard working professor! Where's her trip abroad?

A Place for Everyone on Campus

Agnes Scott has a variety of organizations on campus that can give each member of the campus community an outlet for their leadership abilities, volunteer capabilities, and social desires.

If one desires to use their writing and communication skills, a student could participate in one of the student publications on campus. Aurora is the literary magazine, The Profile is the student newspaper, and the Silhouette is the campus yearbook.

There are also many religious organizations on campus. The Episcopal organization is called the Canterbury club. New Life is for interdenominational Christian students. New Westminster Fellowship has a Presbyterian focus. The Newman Club is for students of the Roman Catholic religion. Wesley Fellowship is mostly composed of those of the United Methodist faith.

Performance artists can be involved with Blackfriars, the student theater troupe. Collegiate Chorale, Joyful Noise, or Studio Dance Theatre.

There are many service organizations on campus in which students can involve themselves. Best Buddies, Campus Civitan, Circle K, Habitat for Humanity, and Volunteer Board are just a few.

We also have cultural and language organizations on campus. Some of which include the African & West Indian Students Association (AWISA), Amnesty International, Asian Cultural Awareness Student Association (ACASA), Chimo, French Club, Lesbians Bisexuals and Allies (LBA), Hispanic Awareness Society (HAS), and Witkaze.

Political organizations on campus include the Conservative Forum, Women of Action Voice and Education (WAVE), League of Women Voters, and Green Earth Organization (GEO).

Women of Action, Voice, Education (WAVE) is Agnes Scott's feminist organization. WAVE is dedicated to bringing about an awareness of issues affecting women locally as well as globally. WAVE calls its members to act on behalf of women's issues through volunteering, lobbying and various other forms of activism. Now in its third year of existence, the group sponsors several events throughout the school term. These activities are developed with the intention of creating space for discussion, education and celebration, and include "Educating the World for Women: Human Rights at ASC," a "Take Back the Night" Vigil in honor of survivors of sexual assault, Positive Body Image Week, Women's HERstory Month, and the Clothesline Project, which remembers the victims and survivors of many forms of violence against women, as well as other activities and educational campaigns. WAVE's newsletter "Rocking the Boat" is new this year. The publication notifies the ASC community of local events and action alerts, lifts up the voices of women at ASC, and educated ASC about issues relating to women. WAVE encourages membership from all campus constituencies.

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board is a national society that recognizes college seniors in institutions of higher education across the country. Qualified applicants display achievement in the areas of scholarship, leadership, and service. Each Spring, rising seniors submit applications at the beginning of the selection process. Upon admission into the organization, a newly selected member is "tapped" by an old member. The new and old members both participate in an induction ceremony in the Spring that is open to the campus community. Mortar Board endeavors to provide campus service projects as well as opportunities for academic discussion and debate. The traditional "Don't Quote Me" seminars are held each semester, featuring a panel of faculty and staff members discussing a key issue in today's society. Topics have included the legalization of marijuana, genetic engineering, and the predicted trends of the coming millennium. In addition to these programs, Mortar Board also provides services to the campus community. Each Spring the members volunteer to baby-sit for any students, staff or faculty members with children. They also sponsor the annual Turkey Teacher Toilet Drive, which supplies badly needed toiletries for local charities. Perhaps the greatest service Mortar Board provides to the campus is the organization and administration of Black Cat Week, in which classes compete to win the cherished black kitty. Each member serves on a committee that oversees an aspect of Black Cat, including areas like pranks, decoration, costumes, and so on. Mortar Board also sponsors Field Day, an annual tradition in which students participate in activities such as field hockey, water balloon tosses, and a trivia competition. Overall, ASC's Mortar Board represents a diverse group of women with a wide range of leadership experience and a sincere desire to serve the community.

CIRCLE K

Circle K is an International Collegiate Service Organization with over 11,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, and the Caribbean. The Circle K organization focuses on service to school and community, as well as providing numerous scholarships and leadership opportunities for members. The parent organization of Circle K is Kiwanis International.

The Agnes Scott Circle K club has 27 members who offer their time serving others. ASC Circle K projects include working with the American Red Cross during blood drives, helping prepare meals for AIDS patients through Project Open Hand, and cleaning the mile in front of ASC for Adopt-a-Highway.

The ASC Circle K club is also home to several Georgia district officers, including the Governor of the GA District, Jennifer G. Long ('00). Jennifer oversees all Circle K clubs in Georgia, as well as serving as a Circle K representative for various Kiwanis and Circle K functions across the South. Tyler Knowles ('00), Lilly Hernandez ('00), and Carol King ('01) are also district officers.

Club officers are Margo Williams (President), Lilly

Hernandez (Vice President), Rebecca Baum (Secretary), and Carol King (Treasurer).

Kelly Taylor (Junior) and Cora Hilton enjoy their time together at the bowling alley.

BEST BUDDIES

Best Buddies is an organization that pairs college students with mentally retarded individuals in the community, forming one-on-one friendships. Buddy pairs do everything from shopping to going out to dinner to just hanging out. A few times a semester, all the buddy pairs get together for group activities, like Valentine's parties and picnics. However, the emphasis of the program is on the friendship that forms between the two. This year, Best Buddies made ice cream sundaes and went bowling, and they had a lot of fun.

Alyssa Bubeck (first-year) and Frances Sherman wait for their turn to bowl. This is just one of the events this year that they will have together as "best buddies."

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

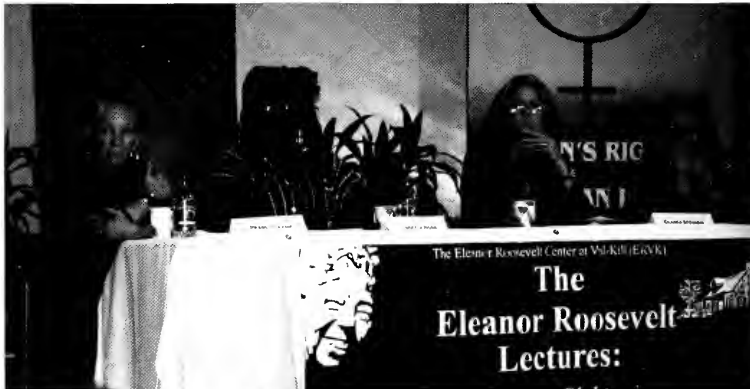

The League of Women Voters started in the 1990s. Former members of the ASC Young Women's League became fed up with the party politics and the policies of LWV appealing. The League, now in its second year, has around 10 members. President Leigh Craigmyle attends monthly meetings with the DeKalb County League members. The League of Women Voters is a strictly nonpartisan organization with the main goal of informing and involving citizens in local, state, and national politics.

Jenna Oglivie and Leigh Craigmyle work together on a debate for Dr. Cochran's class.

Kim Fowler, Leigh Craigmyle, and Tiffini Bell intern at Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney's office in Decatur.

The panel at Spelman College included Pearl Cleage, Agnes Scott Student Loretta Ross, and Gloria Steinem. The panel concerned Human Rights and the Agenda for the New Millennium.

Erin Wright, Maya Wodnicka, and President Leigh Craigmyle discuss Affirmative Action at a League of Women Voters meeting.

CONSERVATIVE FORUM

The Conservative Forum (CF) is an SGA approved organization that seeks to provide its members with opportunities for involvement with Republican campaigns and other organizations that support conservative ideals, principles, theories, and activities. The Conservative Forum, as a minority organization at Agnes Scott College, strives to inform the campus community about the truths and advantages of conservatism. The Conservative Forum was established during the 1996 academic year.

The Conservative Forum worked closely with the College Republicans of Georgia Tech, offered opportunities to work in support of the presidential campaigns of Senator John McCain and Governor George W. Bush, sponsored a series of political movies (The Distinguished Gentlemen, Bulworth, Primary Colors, and The American President) and debated current issues such as the environment, the presidential candidates, affirmative action, and education.

London Fog Ends After 22 Harmonious Years

This will be the last season for the vocal jazz group London Fog, which has been a part of Agnes Scott musical life since its inception in 1978. London Fog holds auditions in the Spring for all qualified students. When accepted to the 8-12 member vocal ensemble, the student remains a member until graduation. London Fog performs several times during the year and holds a Spring concert annually at Agnes Scott. With Dr. Byrnside's retirement this year, London Fog celebrates its final season.

Colonnade Club Services Provides ASC Benefits

The Colonnade Club is a service-oriented student organization created in 1996 to assist with the advancement of Agnes Scott College through the Alumnae and Development Offices. Members attend monthly club meetings and volunteer their time to assist with various programs during the academic year. Colonnade Club members strive to cultivate and continue relationships among current students and the alumnae by involving themselves in annual events such as phonathons, donor events, Alumnae Weekend, and the Alumnae Leadership Conference. Their volunteer experiences provide the students with unique opportunities.

The Colonnade Club also serves as a liason between other student organizations and the development and alumnae offices. Members are taught many of the basic ideas and methods of fundraising and friend-raising.

The Profile, Agnes Scott's Student Newspaper changed production this year to a bi-weekly schedule. The newspaper, published independently by students, had been on a weekly schedule during the semesters in the previous years. The extra production time will make it easier for the students to make copy deadlines in between their academic deadlines. All students interested in writing, photography, editing, layout and design, cartoons, advertising, or circulation are encouraged to join the staff.

C.J. Little and Emily Wingo celebrate Black Cat at Oz Pizza

Fall 1999, as the century (or the millennium if you will) came to a close, ASC's RSO came alive. The RSO or Returning Student Organization is THE RTC happening. Yet this organization was little known on campus. Why? Because RTCs usually don't live on campus, or because they have families to take care of, both of which makes being on campus after class time hard. In Fall, 1999, the RTCs decided to change that. The idea was born to participate in the Black Cat tradition as much as possible. The RSO encourages all RTCs to participate in the activities and events on Campus. It's President, Linda Allen reminded all that, "we are equally a part of the student body at ASC and it is important that we make our presence here more visible."

Truth be told, the idea had been brewing earlier that year when 2 RTCs had participated in "Capping" and new precedents were being set. But it was at Black Cat, October 1999 that the Fairy Godmother was born. The Fairy Godmother is and will be the Mascot the RTCs adopted. Return to College students are part of every class but rarely get a chance to participate in Black Cat in the traditional ways. So this year in order to experience it to the fullest they took the group color of white to incorporate all their class colors in their decorations. They met out on the Quad to put up their signs & decorations on Sunday October 10th at midnight. "Our in-attention is not to complete with the other classes", Anne Strickert ('00) said, "we don't accumulate points and we should participate with our class whenever possible." For the first time the RTCs discovered how exhausting Black Cat week can be.

Sponsored by the RSO, several RTCs put together a surprise spoof of their own to perform before Junior Production. The script, written by Hannah Terrence ('01) utilized the Fairy Godmother and the group song "RTC 69-69." The skit showcased the performing talents of C.J. Little ('00) as the Fairy Godmother, Linda Allen ('00) as Biker Babe, Valerie Covington as Flapper, Patricia Frierson-Silverberg (5th Yr) as Scarlett, Terry Otto ('00) as Blues Brother and Barbara Washington ('01) as Cleopatra. Keiti Pierce provided makeup and Heather-Leigh Owens (5th Yr) assisted with stage direction.

Also the RSO maintained a Hospitality Room during the Black Cat Formal on October 16, 1999. Several RTCs had decided to go together to the traditional Formal being held at the Omni Hotel. When Terry Otto (RTC '00) was asked if she had a good time as she left at 2 a.m. with her date she said "Oh yeah! I want to get the whole college experience," and laughingly added, "Why not? I study hard and pay my fees just like a traditional student."

The RSO, sadly misses meeting in the old CLC building that was torn down for the new Student Center building that is under construction. Fall Semester meetings were held in Evans Dining Hall but Spring Semester has brought them a new meeting place. They meet the 1st Monday and 2nd Wednesday of every month in the Alumnae House living room. C.J. Little ('00), RSO Treasurer said, "It is a great meeting place." She added, "and kinda fitting since we're all old enough to be Alumnae." The RSO held its Convocation at their November meeting on the 10th and will have an Open House Brunch for the Campus Community on March 17th.

The Pre-Law Club is dedicated to assisting students who are considering a career in the field of law or wish to attend law school in the future. The club sponsors speakers on various careers in the legal field, perspectives on law school, and LSAT prep tests.

AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The American Chemical Society student affiliate organization offers opportunities for students to become better acquainted with the chemical sciences. This organization intends to secure the intellectual stimulation that arises from its professional association with the American Chemical Society. Members may obtain experience in preparing and presenting technical material before chemical audiences and may participate in various community service projects. Our chapter strives to instill professional pride in the chemical sciences and promotes an awareness of the responsibilities and challenges of the modern chemist.

NEW WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

New Westminster Fellowship is a Presbyterian-affiliated group that meets once a week for dinner and fellowship. Every year the group holds a fundraiser and sponsors a campus-wide movie. All students are welcome to join.

IOC: InterOrganizational Council

Interorganizational Council is made up of representatives from each organization on campus. The meetings take place on campus and within each organization. Interorganizational Council was created to be a network of assistance, a forum for organizations to bring their questions and problems to in order to see if others are having the same problems or if someone has advice or a solution for them. IOC helps organizations work together on projects or events on campus.

President, Kareisha Henry, conducts a meeting for the members before the semester has begun. Leadership retreats are an important part of IOC.

Andrea Harvey, Yalonda Rice, and Michelle Goss do their part for the club, even if it's 8:00AM.

SHOWTIME Student Activities Programming Board

ShowTime brought lots of exciting activities to campus this past year. ShowTime promises students fun and relaxation on a regular basis. Who ever said there was never anything to do at Agnes Scott?

Remember how much fun you had at:

Jump Little Children and Case She's All That on the Quad
Salsa Lessons and Coffeehouse

ST. AGNES ABBEY

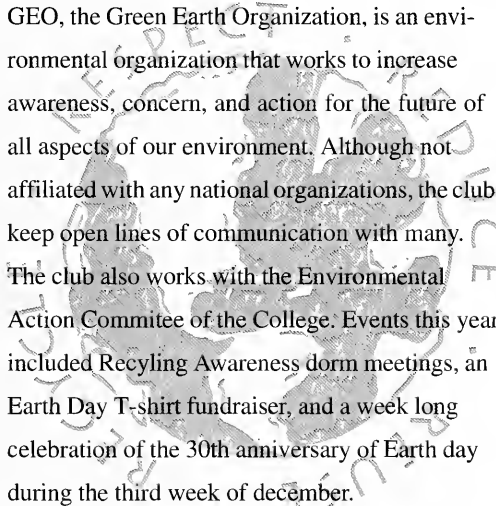

St. Agnes Abbey (the ASC Medieval and Renaissance Appreciation Society) is dedicated to the encouragement of the study, research, and appreciation of the Middle Ages and Renaissance (roughly the years 450 to 1650). The club is unique in that it is the only history oriented student club on campus and, as such, garners members from all areas of history in addition to many non-history students. St. Agnes Abbey also provides a link to the SCA, the Society for Creative Anachronism, an international organization that researches pre-1650 through re-enactment history. Events sponsored by St. Agnes Abbey include demonstration and instruction in the historical arts of dance and fencing, and sponsored a Medieval Faire in April.

LBA breaks barriers

By C. Magueline Pardue

Although a relatively new organization founded in 1995, Lesbians, Bisexuals, and Allies (LBA) is uniting the campus community through activism, dispelling fear and ignorance with tolerance and support.

"LBA is an organization that educates the ASC community on issues that affect the lesbian, bisexual, and allied community, but also serves as a support and information network for students dealing with homophobia," said Heather Branham. "We try to maintain a balance of activism and support so the administration knows that we are here, and students feel like we are fulfilling their needs."

Although originally called Lesbian-Bisexual Alliance, the organization has shifted its focus to include a broader populace of the student body.

Back Row: Sarah Whittington, Heather Branham- Co-President

"I first came out to a straight friend who was supportive," said Amanda Shopa. "Her support proved to me that it's important to have allies so that one doesn't feel alone. Besides, whenever someone supports gay, lesbian, bisexual, or transgender people, the first thing they are asked is "Are you gay?" and for some reason the person says, "No, but my friend is and I support her," straight people tend to listen. Sexuality shouldn't matter, straightness should not validate an argument, but for some it does."

LBA's events include the nationally-popular Coming Out Week running October 10-16. During this week, LBA provided rainbow beaded safety pins for all community members to wear in support of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender community members. They continued the popular "Did you know. . . . was gay/lesbian/bisexual?" posters which featured pictures of famous gays, lesbian, and bisexuals. Information concerning political and social issues impacting the homosexual and bisexual communities were offered to students, faculty, and staff.

"I think Coming Out Week gives the lesbian, bisexual, and allied community an opportunity to say that we are proud of who we are and refuse to be ignored as a powerful constituency on campus," said Branham.

Other activities, such as Spring Break Out and guest lecturers, reinforced the importance of supporting lesbian and bisexual issue year round.

"LBA is an important group on Agnes Scott's campus because LBA members provide valuable information to the entire campus community through box stuffers, e-mails, events and posters on issue relevant to everyone about gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people," said Kira Barden. "LBA is a safe place for students concerned about these issues to join, discuss, and form coalitions to do something productive to combat social injustices in our community and in society at large."

The organization celebrated a victory in the fall when domestic partnership rights were offered to gay, lesbian, and bisexual faculty and staff. Domestic partnerships laws allow non-straight spouses the same rights and privileges conferred upon straight married couples. Some members view this victory as a step towards gaining other legal privileges.

"My girlfriend and I have been together for over two years, and married for a year and a half," said Kristen McElveen. "For our fifth anniversary, we are hoping marriage will be legal so we can have a big formal ceremony with our family and friends, and have the same rights that other married couples enjoy."

While LBA promotes embracing different lifestyles, they also work to invalidate the negative stereotypes forced upon homosexuals and bisexuals in overwhelming social fervors of ignorance and hate.

"I want to change the idea that all lesbians and bi-women are men hating dykes," said Treah Caldwell. "We are feminist, non-feminist, humanist, womanist, black, white, tan, gay, straight, bisexual, thick, thin, loud, quiet, funny, serious, committed, lazy, hardworking, young, old happy, single, married, activist, content, outraged, tall, short, wise, foolish, human women."

BLACKFRIARS

Blackfriars, the student theater troupe, was founded in 1916 under the direction of Frances S. Gooch, and claims the distinction of being the oldest production theater in Atlanta, as well as the oldest organization on campus. Working in close cooperation with the theater faculty of the Department of Theatre and Dance, Blackfriars offers students the opportunity to participate in all aspects of production, from performance to technical theatre. Blackfriars present a major production each semester, as well as a production for children and a collection of student-generated productions. All interested students are invited to participate.

AWISA: African & West Indian Student Association

Founded towards the end of 1999, AWISA became active on the campus in the Fall of 1999. As a new organization, AWISA made a great effort to inform the Scott community about the diverse ethnic traditions found throughout the Caribbean and West Indian cultures.

AWISA's Fall activities included the AWISA Opening Gala, participation in the Ghanaian Homowo Harvest Festival at The Atrium Club, and finally, the joint Cultural Explosion with Georgia Tech's ASA (African Students Association). The Cultural Explosion was our best-attended activity, with over 90 people in attendance. The performance included ASC & GT models, Soca (an offspring of Calypso), Dancehall Reggae, Zoo Blazo & Umqombothi dances, a Two-Act play directed by a Georgia Tech ASA member, and "lots of good food & plantains," to quote an eager diner.

In the Spring, AWISA plans to remain just as active. We look forward to giving the campus more opportunities to learn about our many cultures and to entertaining the community at the same time. Look out for Carnival 2000, AWISA Style around Easter, and cultural excerpts in The Profile newspaper.

SILHOUETTE: ANNUAL STAFF

This was my last year as student of Agnes Scott and Editor of her yearbook. . . Thank God! I am so glad that I was able to be a part of the production of the 1997-2000 yearbooks. It has been a great test in strength, leadership, determination, and sleep deprivation. Even now I do not know if this book will land in the hands of ASC students before graduation. I am crossing my fingers and saying my prayers. If this book arrives before the graduating Seniors leave for the summer I will really know that I have accomplished something amazing! Thank you to this year's staff and especially to those that stuck it out with me. Good luck to next year's staff. I wish you all the best. It's been a pleasure.

Always your editor,

Teams Show Their Stuff

Agnes Scott College sports consists of basketball, cross country, soccer, swimming, softball, tennis, and volleyball. All students are encouraged to participate in these athletic teams as well as the many intramural sports available throughout the year.

The ASC swim team earned its first win of its varsity program when they defeated LaGrange college 89-73.

The Soccer team ended its season with its third and final win of the ASC Soccer Tournament with a record of 13-3-0. Agnes Scott was recognized by the NCAA in four categories. The final rankings for ASC were:

- 17th in the nation in scoring offense at 3.56 goals per game
- 7th longest winning streak in nation at 8 games
- Heather Holm, class of 2001, 12th in the nation in goals per game at 1.20.
- Holm 16th in the nation in points per game at 2.80.

The Volleyball team ended its season at 11-17-0 after hosting the Women's College Invitational. Meredith College, Salem College, Wesleyan College, Hollins College, Randolph-Macon Women's College, and Sweet Briar College all participated in this tournament.

The Future Looks Bright for ASC Soccer

During their non-traditional fall season, the Agnes Scott Soccer team made the decision to show that they had something to prove. After a 6-11 mark last season, the Scotties return to campus dedicated to their team and their program. Eleven returning players, including one who studied abroad last year, welcome fourteen first-years to an expanding ASC roster. Junior striker Heather Holm, last season's leading scorer, and first-year Laura Edwards fill the forward line with speed. The pair is expected to lead the offense. Second-year head coach Laura LeDuc will look to senior Loren Harmeling and first-year Sara Stewart to distribute the ball through the midfield. Junior captains Sarah McIlrath and Katie Wedbush anchor a solid defense that will assist first-year goalkeeper Lauren Phillips. Other outstanding new-comers add depth to the young lineup, including Lisha Daniels, Alison Asmussen, Megan Linn, Destiny Palik, Jessi Law. The Scotties won thirteen of the sixteen games this season. This year's soccer team also won the ASC Soccer tournament title. The NCAA recognized Agnes Scott in four categories. They were as follows: Seventh longest winning streak in the nation at eight games and seventeenth in the nation in scoring offense at 3.56 goals per game. Heather Holm, a junior, placed twelfth in the nation in goals per game at 1.20 and sixteenth in the nation in points per game at 2.80.

Although the Scotties didn't have a perfect season they were successful in many games. This year's team was made up of talented hard working women with six returning members and eight new enthusiastic recruits. They were very spirited and determined not to give up. It was this high spiritedness and ambition that helped them win Eleven matches this year. The Scotties came out on top in matches against teams from colleges such as LaGrange College, Sweet Briar College, Atlanta Christian College, Randolph Macon Women's College, and Stillman College. First year coach Lori Brown is very optimistic about the teams future. On September ninth, the Scotties swept the game against Spelman College winning all three matches consecutively. It is this type of team work and determination that shows us that this team has much to offer in the coming years. This years schedule was a challenge seeing as it was stronger than last years but the team made a good showing. We congratulate the team on all their hard work and determination and wish them good luck in the upcoming years. They also said farewell to their Senior players Kim Davis (co-captain), Becky Smith and Kareisha Henry. Congratulations on your graduation. You will be missed.

This years team was led by first year coach Lori Brown. She comes to us from Aurora University, where she was the head volleyball and softball coach and assistant women's basketball coach. She brings with her an impressive list of accomplishments along with skills, talent and the ability to motivate. In addition to her coaching duties, Brown will act as the recruiting coordinator for the athletic department.

Another accomplishment of this years team was that setter Betty Callahan, a Sophomore, was selected to the All-Tournament Team.

ASC Makes Waves

The Agnes Scott Aquatics team began the millennium as a first year varsity program. The team was led by Senior, Kara Wiergo, who with her motivating members who with their presence and knowledge provided leadership and ability to the team. First year Jacqueline Urda was expected to make an immediate impact and she did not fail to reach that goal. With her coach and fellow team mates. In their first ever varsity victory which occurred on October 20, 1999, the team defeated LaGrange College (89-73) with Jacqueline finishing first in the 200 meter freestyle and also first in the 100 meter backstroke. Other members that came out on top were Whitney Miller ('03) who finished first in the 100 meter freestyle and the 200 meter breast stroke. Both then teamed up with Kelly McCann ('03) and Erin Wright ('02) to win the 200 meter medley relay. Also since this first varsity win was also the first in the ASC pool, every first place finish set a pool record and every top finish by an ASC swimmer set both pool and school records. The years schedule included many dual meets that allowed them the opportunity to be successful and competitive. The Inaugural season had dual emphasis: 1.) Establishing a highly competitive collegiate team and 2.) Committing to individual athletic excellence with the hope of producing NCA Division III National qualifiers.

Jacqueline Urda continued her strong streak throughout the inaugural season which ended with the Atlantic State Swim Championships hosted by Radford University in Virginia. On Friday of the championship Urda entered as the fifth seed out of the sixty one participants of the 200 IM, and qualified for the championship finals with a time of 2:19.26, the second fastest swim in that morning's event. In the evening's championship finals she swam a season best time of 2:18.55, placing third overall. On Saturday Urda qualified as a fifth seed in the 200 freestyle championship finals with a time of 2:08.41. In the evening's finals she recorded a season best 2:07.32 to place fourth. Her final event of the meet was the 100 backstroke. Urda swam the morning's preliminary heat in a season best time of 1:04.98 that qualified her as a fifth seed in the championship finals. The first-year swam a lifetime best time of 1:03.63 and earned a fifth place finish in the evening heat. Coach Remillard expressed his enthusiasm over the amount his team learned this past year and looks forward to the growth he and his team will experience in the coming years.

RUN SCOTTIES RUN

The 1999 Agnes Scott Cross Country team was centered on the leadership and experience of senior captain, number one runner, and two-time regional qualifier, Carla Maley. Three other returning runners - Senior Shari Gunin, Junior Nola Taylor, and Sophomore Elizabeth Harper - join Maley in mentoring six new runners, three of whom are first-years, in the ASC program. This year's squad of ten is the largest in recent ASC history. The team will open its season at its own ASC Scottie Invitational. The course, which was changed from last year's inaugural course because of campus renovations, is one of the most challenging in the metro Atlanta area. At Oglethorpe College on October 16, 1999, as a team they recorded their best total average of the year. The team average at this meet was 24:15. Team captain Carla Maley ('00) completed her cross country career Saturday with a 40th place finish at the NCAA Southeast Regionals held at the University of the South - Sewanee. Her time of 21.11 was a season best for the senior. Maley's time and finish at the regional competition was one of the best overall performances in ASC cross country history. There were 116 runners in the women's competition.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Softball is a Fountain of Youth, Energy, and Enthusiasm

The softball team was the embodiment of the words above. The team is only the team's third year as a varsity sport. It faced the challenge of being young and new. There were only three upperclassmen players which included Senior, Katie Fidanza, who was the captain of the team. The 2000 season also saw the return of eight players, among whom was catcher Robin Mask. Two of the nine first-years, Sarah Worden ('03; Ann Arbor, MI) and Renee James ('00; Decatur, GA) replaced Karen Weyer, last year's pitcher. The two form a pitching staff with significant game experience. If one were to go out early on the mornings or stay during break they would have found the softball team hard at work conditioning their game and working toward their goals. Although the team struggled at the beginning of the season they showed strength and determination by never giving up and working even harder to condition the team to make it what it was by the end of the season. The number of athletes who wished to participate in softball doubled last season, which demonstrates the interest, energy, and enthusiasm about this program. The players were driven and willing to put forth the hard work and extra effort to be prepared for the spring. The over-all athletic talent of this team has the potential to advance the program. First year coach Lori Brown is confident about the direction that the team will be taking in the coming years.

➤WE ARE FAMILY<

Stars Shine
The tennis team had a non traditional beginning. Practices began in the basketball court to work on conditioning since the actual tennis courts were hidden under a sheet of ice at the beginning of spring. Most of the fall roster returned with the addition of three new members that bring tournament experience with them; Selinda Geyer, Andrea Pickens, and Megan Cornwell. They were led by seniors Kembra Healy and Callie Curington and Sophomore Mary Ray Phelps. The team made quite a showing in Macon. They earned their first victory of the 2000 season defeating the Pioneers 9-0. Selinda Geyer and Callie Curington remained undefeated in singles action and Geyer and Cornwell had their first victory in doubles action. The improvement of this years team was noted by Mississippi coach David Boteler who stated that it was a completely different team that his girls faced this year. Coach Ananiadis was optimistic in the direction his team was moving Junior Selinda Geyer won one of the more significant singles victories in the history of Agnes Scott tennis. Playing at the No. 1 spot, Geyer defeated Laura Baria, who was ranked tenth in the South at the end of last season, in two sets, 6-2, 6-0. Co-captain Callie Curington dominated Lesley Winthornaf the No. 6 spot. The senior won her match in two sets, 6-2, 6-1.

BASKETBALL

SWOOSH!

During the year, the Agnes Scott Basketball team learned many lessons about character and dedication during a challenging year. With a brand new coaching staff and not one returning player, the Scotties focused on setting a new standard for ASC hoops. This year the team is taking the next step. The 1999-2000 squad consisted of three returning and eight new players, four of whom were first-years. Along with greater numbers on the roster comes more experience. Sophomore Ashley Zauderer, who is second in career scoring at ASC after only one season, was the Scotties' main ball handler. Averaging 12.1 PPG last season, Zauderer will again captain the Scottie offense. She is joined by Sophomore Meredith Baum, last year's leading rebounder, and Junior Kindra Baer, who struggled with a torn Achilles tendon last season. Jameda Hugh and Miracle Wright made an immediate impact on the team's performance. Hugh will assist Zauderer at the point, while 6'1" Wright joined Baer. The ASC Basketball team completed the 1999-2000 season in Raleigh, North Carolina where they played in the North Carolina/Georgia Women's Basketball Tournament. The Scotties defeated Bennett College with a score of 62-49 on Friday night and advanced to the Championship Game against Meredith College. The Agnes Scott Basketball team displayed their best overall team effort when they defeated the Wesleyan College Pioneers by a score of 81-55.

>STARTING LINE-UP<

This year's Agnes Scott basketball team stops for a second before one of their many highly demanding basketball games. (Back Row) Alicia Crawley (Ast. Coach), Laura Edwards, Geamie Jones, Kindra Baer, Kendra White, Miracle Wright, Katherine Nalley, Megan Linn, Todd McGuire (Ast. Coach), Laura LeDuc (Head Coach), (kneeling) Jameda Hugh, Ashley Zauderer, Meredith Baum and Selyka Givan.

The ball rolls precariously around the rim of the net. The team looks on, holding their breathe...

My Dearest Kimberly,
 As you graduate, my heart is filled with joy and pride.
 What a lovely young woman
 you've become, strong yet sensitive, a bright light and the light of my life. As you continue your life's journey, take these few thoughts with you and hold them closely.

Let your heart guide you in all you do

Observe the simple joys...

A sunset, the song of a bird, a smile, a hug

Give of yourself to others each and every day...

A kind word, a helping hand, an assuring touch, a listening ear

Set goals worthy of your effort...

Move toward their completion a little each day

Laugh and be filled with all that is good

Give love freely...

It will come back to you in abundance

Play...

It is essential to your well being

Stay in touch with your family...

We love you and will always be there for you wherever your life may lead you.

All my love,
 Mom

The future has become the past.
The last four years have gone by so fast.

A giddy young girl left one day.
Agnes Scott seemed so far away.

New friends she would easily find,
and the experiences in class expanded her mind.

A semester in England was really a trip.
But, it was the flight home that made her flip.

The young girl has been transformed.
An educated, confident woman has been formed.

A Perfect Home

I visited a home on a certain street the beauty there could not be beat the house was lovely clean and neat it took my breath away.
There was a little girl named Erika there with dimpled cheeks and curly hair and a lovely smile she loved to share it really made my day.

Behind that beautiful house there stood a cool breezy dreamy woods
it put me in a blissful mood
I just looked on and swooned.
When the autumn leaves begin to fall
I'm going back there to see it all to hear the blackbirds chirp and the crickets call and to watch the harvest moon.

Wishing you success in all your future endeavors. We are very proud of you.

May she be granted beauty and yet not
Beauty to make a stranger's eye distraught,
Or hers before a looking glass, for such,
Being made beautiful overmuch,
Consider beauty a sufficient end,
Lose natural kindness and maybe
The heart-revealing intimacy
That chooses right, and never find a friend.

Over the years girl, the smile on your face has never changed. I looked at you at your birth, a radiant of God's love. As the years have passed, I have seen the challenges that you have faced, I have admired the strength and the inner peace, the gentleness that came forth as you triumphed over all of them holding on to God's unchanging hand. To come to this moment in your life is another stepping stone in reaching your goal; the smile is there, glowing on your face, and in my heart. I'm very proud of you; you are my bundle of joy. I love you girl. . . We love you.

To Hilary Wright:

We know we've given much advice,
Some of it we've given thrice.
We hoped that you would hear our plea,
And finally take that last P.E.

So now you go from Agnes Scott,
Which you will miss an awful lot.
Calculus, Spanish - all part of the ride,
Not as fun as nights at "Trackside."

Watching your progress has been fun,
And Dad would be the proudest one!
Four years ago we left you there,
And now the world had best beware.

You're graduating, we say hurray,
You finished it all in Y2K.

“How do you measure success? To laugh often, and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a redeemed social condition, or a job well done; to know even one other life has breathed because you lived this is to have succeeded.”

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.
